The Research Fellowships Scheme aims to recruit and support Australia's very best medical and health research talent in full-time research during the most productive years of their research life to further develop as leaders in their field and contribute to the Australian research community through active participation.

A critical objective of the scheme is to foster an intellectual environment which supports and builds the capacity of Australian research for the future and in so doing, creates knowledge through investment in research which improves health and thus contributes to Australia's prosperity.

Research Fellowships are awarded at four levels, increasing in order of experience and seniority as follows:

- Senior Research Fellow A (SRF A)
